had eaten almost through the thin partition wall of the undertaking shop. On the second floor Frost found Mrs. John Kern and her six children huddled in a corner, suffocating and frightened. Carrying two of the children in his arms and herding Mrs. Kern with the others, Frost got them down over the burning steps to the sidewalk, just as a sheet of fire shot across behind them.

This cut off the escape of Hunterman, who had meanwhile rounded up Mrs. John Gleason and her four children on the third floor, and Mrs. Henry Schulte and her brood of three on the top floor. After much trouble Hunterman got all of them safely up the ladder and out of the scuttle to the roof. This done, it was easy enough to steer them across to the Woman Makes Complaint.

The complaint produced before Magistrate Finn specifies that on Aug. 8 Mrs. Abernethy ordered A. O. Brown & Co. to purchase for her twenty shares of United States Steel common and twenty-five shares of Missouri, Kansas & Texas. Upon the representation of the firm that the stock had been purchased she gave a check, payable to A. O. Brown & Co. for $1.80°, covering the cost of the then market price of the securities.

She has been unable, she swears, to get her shares or her money, and the receiver, Mr. Littlefield, has been unable to find any trace of the transaction on the books of the firm.
